ABIMIS

Fiesole

ABIMIS as Manufacturers

Fiesole is an incredibly picturesque town just outside Florence, offering stunning views over the surrounding hills. It is also home to a gorgeous historic villa whose materials and architecture bring typical Tuscan traditions to mind. The villa has multiple floors and is surrounded by small walls and other stone features that follow through into its interiors.

This charming residence, which once belonged to a famous Florentine painter, perfectly blends in with its natural surroundings that both welcome it and make it stand out, as do its top location and the sophisticated, modern style of its interiors, creating a pleasant contrast with the external structure. The various rooms have a refined and relaxed atmosphere, where everything is designed with maximum comfort in mind.

Abimis plays a leading role with Ego: here, this iconic kitchen has been designed complete with upper shelves that integrate the cooker hood and other functional elements. Tall storage units have also been included, with reinforced, extractable shelves which are perfect for those heavier 'work' utensils. Together with the practical worktops that alternate between the cooking and washing areas, the new Ego concept is designed to skilfully make the best use out of the entire space, making the "operational" area more efficient.

Made entirely from AISI 304 stainless steel, Ego has once again proven its exceptional ability to provide bespoke creations: the kitchen had to be adapted to the specific requirements of the room's unusual trapezoid shape, ensuring it would fit perfectly in proportion to the surroundings. The characteristic bevelled flush doors are completely integrated into the Ego structure and, here, they are combined with large handles with rounded corners in an elegant brass finish, ideal to ensure top ergonomic performance.

Ego transforms the kitchen into a welcoming 'haven', turning cooking into an extraordinary experience. This kitchen confirms the importance of attention to detail that can be found throughout the house, meeting the need for comfort at the same time as practicality and aesthetics in the kitchen area.

A typical Irish house situated just outside the historic city centre, included within a terraced structure that develops vertically across several floors. A charming piece of architecture, with stones and exposed bricks, which reveals a surprising interior, where timeless objects and furnishings suggest atmospheres marked by retro inspiration.

The kitchen, which is fitted with a 'bright' Ego in mirror finish that is completed with upper wall units and Abimis tall storage units, opens out onto a stylish winter garden, comprising large glazed surfaces to benefit from all the natural light and the domestic comfort afforded by the same. This characteristic open air' living room looks like the natural extension of the kitchen and vice-versa: one setting flows seamlessly into the other, with everything bringing to mind a game of mesmerising and captivating contrasts of materials, surfaces, decorations, interiors and sophisticated objects.

The refurbishment project for the house gave rise to spaces with a strong personality, defined by a fascinating styling impact and full functionality with a contemporary twist.

The space accommodating the Ego kitchen is extensive and bright, and also features solutions embracing age-old values, such as the stove and the fireplace, which are alternated with contemporary, more concrete elements. The resplendent polished stainless steel of the Abimis kitchen, the pale wood parquet floor, the exposed black brick cove with ceramic tiles and the white walls have contributed towards creating an 'engaging' location, capable of suggesting feelings of warmth and familiatity.

The kitchen, which is the result of the precious tailoring abilities of Abimis, is extremely wersattle and functional: the hob and washing station is complete with doors, drawers and wall units at the top; the exclusive recessed plinth of the Ego line, which makes for more flexibility in all tasks, is in the orbitally polished finish and houses push-pull deep drawers without handles, which are extremely easy to open.

The distinctive bevelled flush doors that are integrated into the structure of Ego are tearned with large handles with rounded edges produced in a refined brass finish. The side wall on the other hand plays host to the 'preservation and organisation phase' with a range of tall units, again in stainless steel, where the same ergonomic handles have been fitted. The special mirror-finish of Ego interacts with the natural light flooding in from the winter garden and with the surrounding environment, creating truly mesmerising visual effects.

Abimis stainless steel (AISI 304), a flawless material in terms of hard-wearing durability, hygiene and practicality, was 'arranged' here in several finishes, which were matched skilfully: mirror-finish and orbitally polished, leaving room for the natural shine of stainless steel too.

Una cocina Ego de Abimis, en un loft de Florencia

28.04.2020 La historia de este encantador loft, situada en el distrito de Oltrarno, en Florencia, es el resultado de una importante tarea de conversión de una antigua fábrica de varios pisos de la década de 1950. Su descripción se puede resumir en atmósferas industriales, diseño contemporáneo, contribuciones del pasado y del mundo del arte. Y, como guinda del pastel, una cocina Ego de Abimis.

propietarios, amantes del Sus arte contemporáneo y fanáticos de encontrar objetos raros y antiguos, soñaban con una casa de planta abierta, que se ha convertido en una especie de exhibición autobiográfica que consiste en muebles, referencias iconográficas y piezas únicas. Desarrollado en tres plantas y dotado de un patio interior, el paso de un área a otra es suave y sin obstáculos. La combinación estilística de exteriores e interiores logra un gran confort y una atmósfera acogedora. Allí se enfatizan todos los muebles y el resto de elementos decorativos. Los arcos y fachadas con ladrillos a la vista, las puertas de vidrio plano, los tragaluces, las paredes lacadas en blanco, y la tapicería de muebles en colores pálidos actúan como un marco para estos, en una sinfonía donde ningún detalle se ha dejado al azar.

La cocina Ego de Abimis

El entorno más amplio del edificio, la planta baja, se desarrolla alrededor de un elemento central escénico: la cocina Ego de Abimis. Ésta consiste en una elegante isla de acero inoxidable construida a medida de manera que se adapta a las necesidades y deseos de los propietarios. La cocina de acero inoxidable define el espacio, y brilla gracias a acabado de espejo pulido. Este SU combina con los muebles de madera cálida, la esculturas de mármol, la cristalería, las piezas modernas icónicas, y la iluminación vintage La isla funciona como una solución que ayuda a dividir los espacios. Así, permite a los habitantes crear continuidad entre las áreas de estar y comedor.

El exclusivo zócalo empotrado de la línea Ego, una ventaja que ofrece una mayor flexibilidad en todas las tareas, equipa esta cocina. Por su parte, las unidades de almacenamiento altas Abimis hacen que la cocina sea aún más completa y funcional. Y en

Italian kitchen firm Abimis's mirror-finished cupboard doors

Aga saga

Upscale Italian kitchen firm Abimis was recently contracted by a jewellery designer to install its mirror-finish Ego in her Dublin 2 period home. She went for the magpie-worthy, reflective finish, to create contrasts with the classic, cream-coloured Aga range cooker, a type that once typified the country kitchen. It is set into the original inglenook of the room with the surrounding brickwork tiled in a pretty, handmade ceramic tile. The brick breast has been painted a dark, anthracite grey that matches with the flue and range top. The kitchen, has a bevelled flush door, from €8,000 per linear metre.

Chic et sobre, la cuisine tout en inox, dessinée par Nathalie Apostolatos, a été conçue par l'entreprise Abimis. Elle mêle des éléments d'électroménager Gaggenau et des carreaux ciment aux teintes jaunes, Bisazza.

"BBQUBEX" VON OCQ Die "bbqubeX" kann klassische Küchenzeile sein - oder aber vollausgestattete Kochinse mit Theke und passenden Sitzmöglichkeiten.

"ROYAL GASGRILL" VON OUTSTANDING

Alle die diesen Sommer aufs Gnillen nicht ganz verzichten möchten und vielleicht auch etwas weniger Platz zur Verfügung haben, sollten sich mal die Gartenküche "Royal Gasgrilf" von Oststanding ansehen. In der Allround-Küche aus Edelstahl sind ein Gasgrill, ein Schneidebrett und ein Waschbecken, das sich direkt an einen Wasserschlauch anschließen lässt, integriert. Dank dem praktischen Gasbrenner lässt sich neben dem Grillsteak auch eine leichtes Sommergericht zubereiten. Unter der Tischplatte ist die Gasflasche stilvoll abgeschirmt und genügen Platz für Koch- und Grillutensilien und Geschirt. www.out-standina.dk
